Laura Lian is a professional 'listed' artist having sold in the primary markets, Christie and Bonham's.

Her work is diverse from steel structures with fibre optics in public places, parapets for bridges, bronze plaques, memorial sculptures in public and corporate sites. She has been presented to The Princess Royal on her Millennium bridge parapet designs in Wiltshire.

One of her specialties is 'portrait' sculpture. Her John Lennon Bronze edition was sold to Sharon Osbourne for £9,600.00 at Nordoff Robbins Siler Clef Awards event. She has been commissioned by Nordoff Robbins Music Charity to do U2's portrait for which they signed and it sold at auction for £22,000.00 to Dermot Desmond.

Her sculpture of the Eagles sold at auction for £6,500.00 for Nordoff Robbins charity. Bernie Ecclestone is a collector of her work and has bought a John Lennon sculpture.

Laura's work has been shown at The Beatles Museum in Liverpool and has been commissioned to do The Beatles portraits for 'Hard Days Night Hotel' in Liverpool for their logo design. She has had her portrait bust of the Queen Mother accepted by the West Of England Academy.

Her 'George Best' bronze maquette will be shown at the Manchester Football Museum in 2013 to commemorate 50 years ago, his first game for Manchester United football team.

Laura's latest bronze of John Lennon (image on front cover) with Peace Sign is being sent to New York as a proposal for a possible enlarged version. Endorsed by Sid Bernstein
